I as a XM radio supporter have another reason to never change the dial again. The broadcasters that are attacking satellite radio are feeling threatened by the revolution of radio that satellite brings. Instead of improving the quality and content of there material they now ask the lobbyists to fight for them. Bah! As a citizen of Florida and more over the United States I am outraged that this has even been taken seriously at all. XM and other companies that offer similar services are only reacting to the consumers needs. The people want better and that is what is provided. I will be sure not to support any politician in future elections, fundrasing, etc. if the program quality is tampered with. And to the FCC haven't you stifled us enough with your censorship and hazy guidelines? We pay for the service XM provides stick to the FM and AM and leave us alone!
